aravind : Mr. Bald eagle It's time you need to know why we are here.
roop : Tell me aravind : We got a mission, a dangerous one. Two actually. We can either hijack a plane or rob a bank and make a deal with the president.
roop : What's the endgame here? aravind (hesitant and lowering his gaze): It's to get your best friend detective glen released. He has been abducted by the government in one of their clandestine machinations. They plan to use him against you once your sentence is over.
roop (tears up while maintaining a small smile) : He is not just a friend he is family and I'll do anything for the family.
aravind (breaks the character) : You mean like Dom toretto(vin diesel) from Fast & Furious Mr. Bald eagle?
roop : Don't call me that again. Anyways, what did they do to him?
aravind : I don't have all the answers but I'm sure it's something dark. Anyways, I have to leave now. I'll meet you at the same place tomorrow at 5AM.
The phone shows you all the details. Make your decision by tomorrow before you meet me.

The confident cadence of Detective Bald eagle's steps echoed through the airport as he approached the security check with a gust of assuredness. Harper led as he seamlessly navigated the routine check, his passage was unhindered.
Beyond the security checkpoint, the expansive airport terminal became a stage for Harper's calculated performance. The familiar surroundings fueled his self-assured stride, turning the airport into a canvas for his return. Having successfully boarded the pink plane, Harper's confidence reached its zenith. Making it more fun the cast of Top Gun: Maverick that is , Tom Cruise, Miles Teller, Jennifer Connelly, Jon Hamm, Glen Powell are on board as well. As the aircraft soared through the skies, the detective, with a calculated swagger, made his way to the cockpit.
Wielding an invisible rocket launcher, he pointed it at the pilot, ready to unravel the final chapter of the enigma that had brought him back into the fold.
